

About

Hi! I'm TheDankLemon, a content creator and streamer passionate about gaming, community, and creating a positive space for people to enjoy.

I play a wide variety of games, including RPGs, puzzle games, cosy games, single-player adventures, FPS, horror, community games, and roleplay. I've been gaming for as long as I can remember — literally since I could hold a controller!

My goal as a creator is simple: to pour positivity into a world that can sometimes feel pretty negative, build a welcoming community, and help as many people as I can along the way.

I'm always looking to connect with brands that share those values and create genuine partnerships that feel natural to my content and my community.

If you're looking for a passionate, community-focused creator who genuinely loves gaming and connecting with people, I'd love to work with you! ☺☺☺

What I can offer

I can offer live streams, short form content and videos! im very community driven and passionate about people!
